Basements in the Roanoke Valley tend to become the place where things go to be forgotten. Holiday decorations, old furniture, sports gear and boxes from the last move pile up, and dust settles on everything. Add the valley's humid summers and a basement can start to feel damp and neglected quickly. The Happy Housekeepers offers a basement cleaning service for homeowners who are ready to reclaim that space.

Basement cleaning is part of the company's list of specialized services, alongside spring and fall cleanings, wall and woodwork washing, light fixture cleaning and cleaning inside ovens and refrigerators. A basement visit focuses on removing the dust and cobwebs that gather in corners and along beams, vacuuming carpeted areas, mopping hard floors and leaving the space ready to use again, whether that means a playroom, a home gym or a guest area.

Finished basements in Cave Spring, Hunting Hills and other southwest Roanoke County neighborhoods often see heavy use as family rooms, and they benefit from being included in a recurring plan. Unfinished basements and storage areas might only need attention once or twice a year, often as part of a spring clean once the pollen settles or a fall clean before holiday decorations come out. The office can recommend the right approach after hearing how you use the space.
